NATURAL VITALITY™

The Gillham Health Series

The liver's vital role in your good health

The liver is the largest organ in your body and carries a greater workload than all other organs. The liver works full time both converting the food that you eat into substances vital for life and neutralizing and destroying toxic substances.

If you have tried many ways to improve your health and energy level and nothing has seemed to adequately help, it is very possible that an overworked liver underlies your difficulties. Restoring optimum liver function is one of the most important and vital actions you can take to improve your health.

The natural course of life can cause the liver to get stressed, overworked and exhausted. Toxic chemicals, preservatives, poor diet, cigarettes, alcohol and prescription drugs all cause the liver to deteriorate, drain its energy and make it hard or even impossible for it to perform its functions. This can create a "state of emergency" within the body that debilitates and damages other organs, leading to numerous chronic conditions.

DETOXIFICATION

As the detoxifying center of the body, the liver has a daily workload of neutralizing toxic substances such as pesticides, caffeine, medications, alcohol, chemicals, food preservatives, auto exhaust and cigarettes. The liver helps remove these substances by breaking them down, enabling us to survive the enormous toxic challenges in our environment.

SYMPTOMS OF A CONGESTED LIVER

Ultimately, your health can only be as good as the health of your liver. A poorly functioning liver will affect all other organs.

Weight gain and depression are two manifestations of a congested, overworked liver. Other common symptoms and conditions include being on edge (easily stressed), emotional roller coaster, elevated cholesterol, skin conditions, skin irritation, sleep difficulties, fat indigestion, kidney damage, heart damage, brain damage, hypothyroidism, chronic fatigue, poor memory, PMS, mental fog, blood sugar disorders, allergies and obesity.

When the liver gets congested and toxic, it will remain that way and get worse until it is detoxified and rejuvenated.

BREAKTHROUGH SOLUTION

Liver Rejuvenator is a breakthrough product—the most powerful liver formula available today. Made from a unique combination of the finest Chinese herbs and the best of Western herbs, Liver Rejuvenator detoxifies as well as rebuilds the liver.

No other formula can renew liver health as effectively, rapidly and gently as Liver Rejuvenator. This product sets a new standard for efficiency and results.

The liver has everything to do with your energy level. If you want high energy, great stamina and overall good health, be sure to keep your liver in excellent shape. Not detoxifying your liver is like never changing the oil filter in your car!

A healthy liver can mean much more energy, greater mental clarity, better mood, improved health, protection against countless ailments, and finding relief for conditions that may have been plaguing you for years.
